A Time to Remember

In the Gospel today, Jesus says that we live in him as he lives in the Father. This is especially true, not only for us, but also for our loved ones who have gone before us into the Heavenly Kingdom.

On this Memorial Day weekend, we remember those who have died. Because we believe in the Communion of Saints, we know, as it says in the Wake Service, “that the ties of friendship and love that knit us as one through this life do not unravel with death.” As those who have gone before us live with our Risen Savior, our prayers continue to knit us as one.

As Americans, let us not forget all those men and woman who have died in the service of our Country.

Bishop's Appeal Message: Being Christ for Others

There are many ways that we are Christ to others. We experience it right here in the North Country as we reach out in concern for those in need.

Yet, as our arms enwrap those around us as the Church of Albany, we are also mindful of the needs of those throughout the diocese.

Called to be good Stewarts, let each of us do as much as we can in giving to the Bishop's Appeal.

Next week we will speak about how the loving arms of the Church of Albany are there for us, too.

Personality Pathways and Prayer: A Jungian Approach to Spiritual Growth

Saturday, June 18, 10 am to 3 pm Fr. Dan Nelson, OFM, PHD Donation $60

Using the Jungian-based understanding of personality types, this day long program will focus on exploring various approaches to prayer and communication with our God, expressive of our unique typology. We investigate the ways which the Divine Presence most frequently uses to enter, touch and transform our lives. This program will also address how our preferred prayer forms and types often change over the course of our lives and why that is. All participants will be encouraged to complete the Myers-Briggs Type indicator or Keirsey Temperament Scale prior to this program as a starting point for our discussions and to make the most of the day's activities.
